Re: United States v. Peter Bright
19 Cr. 521 (PKC)

Dear Counsel:

Pursuant to Rule 16(b)(1)(C) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, Peter Bright serves notice that he intends to use the following expert testimony as evidence at trial:

Dr. James Cantor is a clinical psychologist and sex researcher. He is the founder and head of the Toronto Center for Sex Therapy. For over twenty years, Dr. Cantor has conducted research on atypical and alternative sexual interests and behavior with a particular focus on sexual attraction to children. He has published over 100 peer-reviewed articles on the subject. Dr. Cantor has been qualified numerous times to testify as an expert in clinical psychology, neuroscience, and sex research. If called as a witness, Dr. Cantor will testify regarding alternative sexual practices commonly referred to as "BDSM" and "kink." Specifically, Dr. Cantor will explain the characteristics of "Age Play," a form of role-playing where an individual acts or treats another as though they were a different age. He will also testify about the general characteristics and behaviors of individuals with Pedophilia and individuals who have engaged in child sexual abuse. The defense expects Dr. Cantor to testify that there is no relationship between engaging in "Age Play" and committing an illegal sex act against a minor or desiring sex with a minor.

Attached please find Dr. Cantor's curriculum vitae.

Very truly yours,

/s/

Amy Gallicchio, Esq.
Zawadi Baharanyi, Esq.
